Opening Ceremonies at the 2010 Eastern Grand Nationals

Quote of the Day

“Racing is a matter of spirit not strength.”

-Janet Guthrie

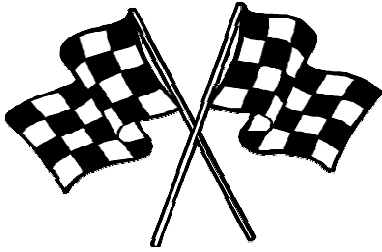

Yesterday morning the opening ceremonies were held. It started off by the kids from all the different regions gathering together and marching around the track to “Back Home Again in Indiana” as parents, friends, and family all watched. The kids were proud to represent which region they were from as they held signs and waved flags. Just as they do in the Indy 500, the kids took place in releasing balloons into the air. Afterwards, Tony George, Ed Carpenter (from IRL), and Pippa (Indy Light Driver) talked to the kids about the history of racing, that took place right here in Indiana. The most exciting part was last. As the kids sang to the national anthem, a parachuter flew in with the American flag. It was certainly a beautiful sight to see.
