A Mains at the 2010 Western Grands

Today is the day we have been waiting for all week: A main day. Mother nature finally came through for us over the last few days and we have seen great racing here in Texas. Today we will see 16 races and each field will be filled with the best Quarter Midget racers from all over the country. We wish each and every driver the best of luck.

The 2010 Western Grands in Texas may leave some of us wondering: did I choose the right gear, did I have the "hot" set up, should I have passed sooner, did the judges make the right call? We spend endless months, days, and hours trying to attain that ever elusive Grand National title, but in the end it is usually what happens off the track that we remember most. Each Grand National event is a truly special and unique experience and the memories we take away will last a lifetime

We would like to thank all of the people who have worked to make this grand a success this year. From the Pit Stewards, the fuelers, the judges, the corner workers, the scorers, tech committee, safety people, and all the behind the scenes personnel, we thank you from the bottom of our hearts for your hard work and dedication to the sport. Without all the volunteers quarter midget racing would not be possible.
